

Angelle Wise

Angelle is from Baton Rouge, Louisiana and began dancing at two years old. Throughout her childhood she studied a variety of techniques including ballet, pointe, modern, jazz, tap, contemporary, lyrical, hip hop, and musical theatre. While studying these techniques, she also had the opportunity to study with professional companies including Joffrey Ballet and Ballet Magnificat!, attend international dance festivals, as well as perform in ballets, outreach performances, and dance competitions.

She decided to further her dance education by earning her Bachelor of Fine Arts in Dance with a focus in Choreography and Performance in May, 2016 from the University of North Texas. At the U.N.T., she regularly performed and choreographed in school produced productions, public productions, and at the American College Dance Association Festival. Currently, she is stationed at F.E. Warren with her husband, dances with Ballet Wyoming, and has taught at En Avant for one year.
